THE COMING TIME.

The hearts of men are beating
On to the coming time!
The weight of life and mass and sin
That make the heart motion from within—
The rust forever eating—
The outward frosty rime—
Are all the signs of death and vein,
And love's pure currents swift and sweet,
Welled by a stronger, bolder heart,
Rise in the banks the flood to meet,
In the heart of the coming time.

The souls of men are winging
On to the coming time;
In wider wings and longer flights
Up the far future's luminous heights,
From the dark past upspringing,
To the bright future's light;

Old mole hills that were mountains, sink;
And high, untrodden ranges shrink;

Another host subside,
Or trample them down, strong as life,

And see beyond the narrow strife
The flag of freedom overwaved,

Oppressed by the slowly sinking grave
And all for love of man,

In the thought of the coming time.

The deeds of men are marching
On to the coming time;
The little tolls of yesterday
Are but a child's forgotten play;

The temple of man's prime
But iron sledges clash and roar,

Where velvet hammers clinked before;

Great blows of the hand of fate begat,

And cooler blows than ever yet,
The air on throbbing foreheads wet.

With the deeds of the coming time.

Meeting of the Bee-Keeper's Association.

The Bee-Keeper's Association, of Los Angeles county, held a called meeting on Saturday, May 16, at Jones Hotel, El Monte, J. T. Gordon, Esq., of Azusa, President. The minutes of the last meeting approved.

LETTERS OF INTEREST WHILE READ.

Messrs. Drake & Emerson, 521 and 523 Sansome street, San Francisco, acknowledged the receipt of the special notice that they were selected to be the consignees of the honey shipped by the association, and said, "Inasmuch as we have been selected, our aim will be to give the matter such attention as will give general satisfaction to all concerned, and we hope you will be able to make it general with all interested as it will be very important." J. S. Harbison, of San Diego (he and his friends own nearly all the bees of that county, and have a greater number of swarms than this entire county), wrote as follows:

"MESSRS. DRAKE & EMERSON

Are capable and trustworthy to handle the entire crop of honey of your county and this one, and would say, also, that I know of no more honorable and upright men than I have found them to be; neither do I know of any more capable to entrust with the sale of honey. I will continue to patronize them as I have heretofore done, since they commenced as successors of J. L. Sanford & Co. My principal patent has expired and the other one has only a short time to run; I therefore inform you that my inventions are public property. Nichols & Co., Q. and Second streets, Sacramento, get out all my honey-boxes." Adjourned until regular meeting, third Saturday (20th) of June. A. J. DAVIDSON, Secretary tem.

Who Captured Vasquez?

From the San Francisco News Letter, May 16. The T. C. could extort no word from Mrs. Town, yesterday, at breakfast. She had smuggled in a copy of the "live paper" (the T. C. does not take the "family paper," himself, having no young daughters to reveal in the evidence of harlots and the unveiled mysteries of the Temple of the Lively Flea), and was deeply absorbed in the six-column capture of Vasquez. After munching his toast in silence for about half an hour, in expectation of hearing some news, the Town Crier was somewhat surprised when Mrs. T. looked up with a puzzled expression and inquired, "Who took the horrid bandit, and how was it done?" "Give it up," said the Crier, wondering why the old lady had taken to propounding riddles. "Well, now, look here," continued Mrs. T., "I've just read through this account from beginning to end, and I can't quite make out whether the Chronicle reporter took the noted bandit after a hand to hand encounter, or whether the reporter of the Chronicle, although head center and general of the whole gang, assisted in the capture. I am only clear on one point, that is that the proprietors of the Chronicle fitted out the whole expedition, paid all expenses, and have nearly ruined themselves by their disinterested conduct." "Ah, that is a way they have, my dear," answered the Crier, and with an ominous smile, he took up his bell and departed.

San Diego Items.

From the World and Union of May 20. From Capt. Porter we learn that Don Antonio Valdevia, the younger, who is on a trip to the frontier of Lower California, writes to his father that he found the placers in the vicinity of Japa nearly deserted, and that the population had gone to the new diggings, about twelve or fifteen miles from San Rafael. Young Antenor sent for his brother, and gives a glowing description of the prospects. He says the gold is coarse and water plenty. Provisions, scarce and high.

Constable Coombs, of San Luis Rey, arrived in town, last night, having in charge an Indian named Isidor Espeso, who was committed by Justice Crombie for stealing and killing a calf belonging to Tomas Alvarado. Isidor is a philosophical aborigine. He says he rather likes the idea of going to San Quentin for a year or two. The sights he will behold on his trip will more than compensate him for the trifling time spent in State Prison.

An Efficient Officer.

FOR THE HERALD: When an officer devotes his time and energies to the faithful discharge of his public duties, he is entitled not only to the thanks of those he serves, but to a liberal compensation for his services.

The irrigators of the city have good cause to thank him for the fact that there is such an officer in the service of Mr. Felio Gallardo, Deputy Zanjero. Never, within the knowledge of the writer, has the city had a deputy so faithful, diligent and impartial in that department of her service. His whole time is devoted to his work; and that he discharges his duty faithfully and well, irrigators cheerfully testify.

The city should not lose his services. But is he paid for his services? Governed by the rule that an officer should be paid in proportion to the value of his services, it is safe to say that he does not receive an adequate compensation. Let the city authorities see to it that he is well paid, and the public will applaud.

The Panamint Mines.

From Mr. W. B. CALDWELL, who has just returned from Panamint, we learn some new and interesting items concerning the mines in that locality. Mr. CALDWELL is an old miner, and has seen all the rich mines on this coast. He says the silver lodes of Panamint are the richest he has ever seen. The best grade ore now taken out yields from six to eight hundred dollars per ton. The rock yields nothing but silver. While in the mines, Mr. CALDWELL saw some Mexicans roast seventeen ounces of pure silver from one hundred pounds of rock. A great deal of the richest ore is carried on mules to Swansea, a distance of sixty miles. There are quite a number of mines scattered about the district, though but little work is being done on any of the ledges except the Wonder, Mountain View, Sunrise and Wyoming. These claims are located on different ledges. The mines are at an altitude of 7,500 feet, and there is yet considerable snow in the vicinity. Some of the ledges, in fact the most of them, are wide and clearly defined; one or two are thirty feet in width. As yet the mines are hardly prospected. There are no milling facilities nearer than Swansea. It is impossible to get machinery up to the mines by other means except on the back of a mule. Steps are already taken for the erection of a mill as near the mines as practicable, and it is expected it will be in operation in a few months. The lowest estimate on the cost of making a road through the cañon is twenty thousand dollars; it may cost almost double that amount. The holders of claims have great confidence in the richness of the mines, and when one begins to talk about purchasing, half a million dollars is mentioned as the price of a claim. The Panamint mines are located near the summit of the mountains skirting the east side of Death Valley. That they are the center of a rich and extensive silver mining district, there can be no doubt.

Our Port.

With the additional steamers recently added to the line by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company the arrivals and departures at Wilmington of San Francisco steamers will be about five per week. We ought to have a daily line, and it is probable we shall have in a few weeks or months at the farthest. The quantity of freight and number of passengers coming down increases with each trip, and it not unfrequently happens that many are unable to obtain berths days before the steamer sails. Two of the companies boats now running do not go further down the Coast than Wilmington. The railroad between this city and the landing is doing an immense business, both in freight and passengers. All this is a sign of prosperity, and affords the most conclusive proof the people beginning to understand that there is a splendid country here, and also that the owners of steamer lines are finding out that Wilmington harbor is about as good a place to land and as safe a harbor as many about which a great deal more blowing has been done. The fact is the port of Wilmington has no more dangers to shipping than San Francisco harbor, except in rough weather, which seldom or never occurs. With the improvements now progressing, the time is near at hand when we shall hear no more complaint about Wilmington harbor, and ships and steamers will come and go without hindrance or inconvenience.

As a warning to people who will eat with a fork, we may mention that an individual in San Francisco recently swallowed one of those three-pronged things. And now that fork is prodigiously away at its victim's stomach, and stirring up his undigested food while the doctors are pouring acids down the man's throat in the hope of smelting the metal and running it into a bar. The fork will be spied on the man who will die.

THE SAN JOSE MERCURY says LEVIA, now in jail in that city, denounces VASQUEZ as a liar when he says he did not take part in the murders at Tres Pinos. On this subject we will take LEVIA'S word for more pounds than would HAMLET that of the ghost.

The Independence Railroad.

Mr. CRAWFORD has gone out for the purpose of making a preliminary survey of the Los Angeles and Independence railroad. This is something in the way of commencement and we hope will be followed by still more energetic action on the part of our citizens. The plan suggested by Mr. CRAWFORD of running the road from Spadra through the Cajon pass, and of building it on the cheap plan detailed in the HERALD some days ago, meets the approbation of the company and of our citizens generally. The route is certainly the best that can be selected while the quality of road proposed is the only one we are able to build. On Mr. CRAWFORD's plan the cost of building and equipping the two hundred and five miles of road will not exceed $1,200,000. To put down the ordinary rail would cost more than double this amount, and place the work beyond the means of our own people. The road if built at all must be built with local capital, and success therefore depends on reducing its cost to a sum within our reach. When the cheap road is completed and in operation, then outside capital will be ready to invest in it and enable us to lay down the iron rail, not before. It is our work now and we must do it. The task is not heavy if every man places his shoulder to the wheel, but it is entirely too heavy for the easy performance of a few men. If Los Angeles would secure the important trade this road will command, she must go to work—she must invest her money. Talk is all very fine in its way, but it never built a railroad and never will. What is needed is action, prompt energetic and untiring action.

"The Resources of California."

Several years ago J. P. H. WENTWORTH, of San Francisco, conceived the idea that a paper devoted exclusively to giving publicity to the resources of our State would prove of great advantage in inducing immigration. He carried his scheme into practical effect, and commenced the publication of the Resources of California—a large eight-page monthly paper. He filled it with well written, plain statements of fact relative to the soil, products and mineral wealth of different localities, together with a mass of statistical information. The paper was sought for in all quarters, and copies were sent all over the East and into Europe. As a channel for obtaining much that those who desired to visit this coast wished to know, the paper was a success; but in a financial sense it was a failure. It did not pay expenses. WENTWORTH was, however, not disposed to give up the enterprise. He struggled on, hoping for the good time coming, and we are pleased to be able to say that day has at last dawned. The paper is now in a condition to maintain itself. It is doing much good, and is worth the support of every resident of California. Mr. DANA C. PEARSON, agent and correspondent of the Resources, is now in this city, and will remain here some days, soliciting subscriptions and collecting such information relative to Los Angeles valley as will be useful to his paper. We commend him to all friends of progress, and trust he will receive that encouragement the Resources of California so richly deserves.

New Road to Panamint.

Some weeks ago mention was made in the columns of the HERALD that Mr. W. B. CALDWELL had started out for the purpose of locating a better and shorter road between this city and the Panamint mines than the one now in use. The gentleman returned two days ago, and informs us that his mission was successful. The route he has marked out is some thirty miles shorter than the old road, and runs over a firm surface, almost entirely free from sand. The new route leaves the old road at Desert Springs and goes by way of the old Laurel Hill silver mines. It skirts around the east side of the Slate Range mountains. As soon as the road is graded over the Slate Range, the route will be still shorter. There is a stretch of forty-eight miles without water, but a well is now being dug midway which will reduce the distance from water to water to twenty-four miles. The road is now good from this city to Borax Lake, and the remainder of the route only needs travel to make it equally solid. The total distance from here to Panamint by the new route is about two hundred miles.

SPONGES in large numbers are washing out on the beach near Santa Barbara; yet the San Francisco dailies are still published, and the News Letter cannot note a falling off in the bumper population of that city.

Mr. G. B. Sanguineti, one of the proprietors of La Esperanza, will start for San Francisco next Sunday, to purchase a large supply of goods to replenish their stock. To enterprise and uprightness of dealing, La Esperanza stands at the head of our business houses. We wish Mr. Sanguineti a successful trip.

Vasquez was put in chains yesterday. He is now becoming so near convalescence that his hosts are afraid he might take. French leave unless they use some gentle inducements for keeping him. He wears a pair of bracelets on his ankles with a heavy chain attached, and anchored to the iron grating of his cell-door.

Mr. Leopold Bachman and wife arrived in our city a few days ago, and are registered at the Claremont Hotel. Mr. Bachman visited us ten years ago, and since then the place has grown quite out of his memory. Mr. Bachman is one of the heaviest merchants in San Francisco. We are glad to note that his health is much improved since his former visit with us.

The proprietors of the Capitol store think some of starting a fish-market in their establishment. They yesterday took from the hose in front of their store a fine specimen of the genus minnow, some three or four inches long. The little fish had followed his straight and narrow way for about two miles through the iron pipe, and was no doubt glad of his delivery at last, even if he did find himself a prisoner in a basin of water. As a fisherman, Mr. Widney, who made the capture, is a decided success.

Mrs. S. J. Millington, agent for Mrs. Leake's system for fitting dresses, basques, etc. With this system, waists can be drafted for all forms which will fit perfectly without alteration. A book is furnished with each system, in addition to thorough instructions, with a full set of drawings and all necessary instructions in joining and making up waists. Ladies are invited to test this system by fitting themselves free of charge. Instructions given, if desired, at room, right hand entrance, inside door, 30 Spring street.

The Stockton Leader contains the following friendly comment: "The Los Angeles DAILY HERALD comes to us looking as bright as the mechanical art of printing and pressman can make it, and its columns are well filled with late news, interesting editorials and chatty locals. The editor, J. M. Bassett, whom our readers will remember as connected with the San Joaquin Republican, formerly published in the Leader establishment, making an excellent paper of it, and we wish him continued success."

We clip the following from the San Francisco Bulletin. There is an old saying that one must go away from home to learn the news, and this is an exemplification: "William Barrows, recently the ticket agent in this city of the Pacific Mail Steamship Line, was arrested in Los Angeles some days since, and is now lodged in the City Prison, waiting examination on a charge of embezzlement. Nothing has yet been made public regarding the circumstances of the alleged offense, and it is not known when the case will come up for investigation."

La Esperanza, at No. 108 Main street, is one of the largest and best appointed stores in Southern California. A full line of groceries, imported direct from the East and Europe, together with a complete stock of provisions, is kept constantly on hand and sold at bottom prices. Country produce bought, and the highest price allowed. This house is too well known to require any further commendation from us; we can only advise our friends to visit the store and see for themselves what excellent inducements are offered to customers by way of fine goods and low prices."

Common Council Proceedings.

The Council met yesterday at the usual hour. Present—Sabichi, Dockweiler, Valdez, Gerkins, Huber, Workman, Mascarel and Beaudry. Absent—De Celi and Chavis. Minutes of previous meeting read and approved.

The City Attorney, from the Committee appointed to draft an ordinance excluding houses of ill-fame from certain portions of the city, reported back the ordinance as presented at last meeting, with the limits designated as Los Angeles stand alone, stating that the limits can be enlarged when desired. Another ordinance was also submitted of the same purport but comprising a somewhat larger section.

On motion of Mr. Workman, the report of the Committee was placed on file. Mr. Beaudry moved the adoption of the latter ordinance. Moved as an amendment that the City Attorney change the ordinance so that it will include both sides of street named. Mr. Gerkins thought that the ordinance should exclude such houses from the city limits entirely. If these characters are removed from the present locality, they will take up their quarters in other sections where they will be legally objectionable. Mr. Gerkins moved that the ordinance be referred back to the Committee, and that another be drawn excluding houses of ill-fame from the city entirely.

Mr. Mascarel thought that some particular locality should be designated by the Council where such houses may be permitted. The original motion of Mr. Beaudry for adoption of ordinance as read was then put to vote and carried unanimously.

Mr. Workman moved that the necessary steps be taken for the printing of the City Charter in pamphlet form, and that the Committee on Supplies be instructed to confer with the proprietors of the HERALD in relation thereto. Carried.

The Deputy Zanjero called the attention of the Council to the fact that some of the men are receiving much injury by the watering of cattle and sheep in them. Moved that the mounted police be instructed to prevent the watering of stock in zanjitas, and if necessary to arrest any parties attempting to do so. Carried.

Mr. Gerkins moved that the necessary steps be taken for the printing of the City Charter in pamphlet form, and that the Committee on Supplies be instructed to confer with the proprietors of the HERALD in relation thereto. Carried.

Mr. Huber called the attention of the Council to the matter of fire hydrants, and moved that the water company be allowed thirty days to put in seventeen hydrants, according to agreement. Carried.
